

Our mentors come to EQmentor with decades of experience, often after a full career spanning multiple industries and a couple of vocations. The majority of our mentors are Baby Boomers, retired/semi-retired, or working on their own. They are from all over the world.

Before working with any mentees, mentors go through a screening process that includes minimum selection guidelines, a background check, and an interview. Following that, mentors go through the industry’s most rigorous certification process – which includes comprehensive Body of Knowledge materials about mentoring, an examination, and a live Simulation.

All of our mentors work virtually, allowing for flexibility for the mentee’s needs to be addressed at their point of need.
